

Teaching Opportunity, Semester 2 2022

Casual, June/ July – November 2022

Seeking someone who is sociologically trained, to join our dynamic teaching team in Semester 2, 2022. Particularly interested if you have a practice background in the education, public health, youth or community services sectors.

You would be teaching professionals who already work in same (eg. doctors, teachers, nurses, police) the fundamental concepts for an applied socio-environmental approach to understanding and working more effectively with young people. In focus are fundamental ideas like social change, inequality, historical, global and cultural perspectives, class, gender, race, ability, geographies, inter-sectionality ... etc. SEC (see below) is a core subject in the Graduate Certificate, Graduate Diploma or Master in Adolescent Health and Wellbeing. <https://study.unimelb.edu.au/lp/mdhs/study-adolescent-health-and-wellbeing>

The subject is ready to go but needs a great communicator with a heart for effective practice.

More details here: <https://handbook.unimelb.edu.au/subjects/poph90172/>

Contact Dr Ani Wierenga: wierenga@unimelb.edu.au